B. Professional Development Report: 2017-18

C. Department of Justice (DOJ) School Safety Grant Training Requirements

Ms. Stebbins-Hintz explained that training in Trauma Sensitive Schools is required for all full-time staff because the District received phase I of the School Safety Grant. Administration decided all staff will receive a minimum of three hours of training in Trauma Sensitive Schools during the 2018-19 school year.

Craig Broeren, Superintendent, shared that the application for phase II of the School Safety Grant has been submitted. If the District receives phase II of the DOJ's school safety grant, additional training will be required including Wisconsin DOJ Threat Assessment Team training for the District's School Safety Intervention Team (SSIT), as well as sending 10 percent of our full time teachers and counselors to a DOJ-approved 12-hour Adolescent Mental Health Training program. The District is currently working with the Office of School Safety to make WRPS a training site for both of these requirements.

Ms. Stebbins-Hintz invited Committee members to attend one of the three hour Trauma Sensitive School trainings, as well as join us for any or all of our professional day on October 1 which is devoted to behavior and mental health.
